Biographical Note for C. P. Squires

Charles Pember "Pop" Squires was a prominent newspaper editor and publisher in Las Vegas, Nevada. He moved to Las Vegas with his wife Delphine Anderson Squires in 1905 and they participated in the town site's original land auction that same year. Along with several business partners, Squires opened a bank, a hotel, and an electric company. In 1908 he purchased the Las Vegas Age, one of Las Vegas's original newspapers. He owned and operated the paper until 1943 when the Las Vegas Review-Journal purchased the Age. The Review-Journal's owner Frank Garside kept Squires as the paper's editor, a job he retained until the paper was suspended in 1947. At the time of his death in 1958, Squires was working on a local history of Las Vegas.

Biographical Note for Delphine Anderson Squires

Delphine Anderson Squires was a significant civic figure in Las Vegas, Nevada. She moved to Las Vegas with her husband C. P. Squires in 1905 and they participated in the town site's original land auction that same year. In an effort to improve the culture of the burgeoning city, she helped establish several civic organizations, including the Congress of Mothers, the Mesquite Club, the Nevada Federated Women's Clubs, and the Las Vegas Library. She died in 1961.
